Noise Abated? – Eventually

Tired of hearing those motorcycles va-room down the road? Relief may come soon.

The County Anti-noise Abatement Control Office (ANAC) is scheduled to start operation in a few months.

The office with the overlong name is scheduled to be concerned with any complaint that interferes with the peace and tranquility of your neighborhood.

An amplified stereo of the kid across the way is going to get caught up in the new controls. It'll be back to the earphones for him. Loud radios and teevees will be acted upon until they get down to liveable decibelation.

And barking dogs. That's going to be a tricky complaint to handle. Much like a muffler-less car or motorcycle, the noise will have been "abated" away by the time a noise-fuzz complaint officer arrives on the scene.

The Federal Aviation Administration of the Department of Transportation is already gearing up for the controls. FAA is proposing that registration numerals on fixed wing aircraft be enlarged and relocated for easier identification. It will require that the "N" number be painted in large Roman numerals on the underneath side of the left wing.. Low flying craft could thus be easily identified. Unexplained is how to read the numbers after dark.

The anti-noise operation isn't going to be simple. No such thing as calling a number and having someone come out and put a stop to the nuisance.

It will work like this. A neighbor's kid is ripping up the evening's quiet with his chopper. The motorcycle's noise is ear-splitting. Under new plans you are to call the sheriff's office. From there, the call goes to the anti-noise abatement control office. The two offices confer. If it is decided you have a justifiable complaint an ANAC officer will take your squawk.

Of course, by then, the motorcycle has been gone for more than an hour — but the headache lingers.

Until the new ordinance becomes operational, cyclists and auto drivers are fairly safe. They are safe as long as they stay off the public roadways. Soon the noise abatement rules will be enforced anywhere.

All of which recalls an event near Spring Valley last year when a rider took his mufflerless motorcycle for a workout nearly every night. Usually, the trip was high speed and lasted about a half-hour between 11 p.m. and 3 a.m.

A time lag averted the police getting to the area in time to catch the culprit. The theory being that more serious crimes get the officers' attention first. The rider got away for more than two months

But the man in uniform eventually persevered, as he always does. The neighbor still does his midnight ride, it is said, but he is more a silent ghost than a bang-bang daddy, and the once sleepless nights in that Spring Valley neighborhood have become serene again.

L.G. Chamber To Oppose County Sign Ordinance

The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce board of directors unanimously endorsed a proposal by Don Irwin, president of the United Business Commission of San Diego, to oppose the county's sign ordinance.

The ordinance would invoke a stiff "inspection fee" on signs while setting a maximum size.

"Environmentalists," Irwin said, "are determined to get rid of our signs by taxing them out of existence under the guise of inspection fees.

"In San Diego they put a tax on a small sign in an alley which read 'men'."

In other actions the board heard a committee describe a letter-writing and window-sign approach to help alleviate diminishing parking spaces in the business district. That program will get under way within a week.

School Board OK's Letter to State, Eyes Fence Plan

The Lemon Grove School Board voted, Tuesday, to adopt a resolution to be sent to the state legislature similar to a resolution which the La Mesa Spring Valley drafted to voice concerns regarding the effects of State Bill 90 on district programs. The board's consideration was requested by L.M.-S.V. School Superintendent Runge.

Board members also examined plans for a security fence for Monterey Heights school, scene of considerable theft and vandalism. There have been two burglaries in recent months at the school, the latest of which involved the loss of a typewriter and an expensie copy machine.

Burglars Having A 'Field Day' in L.G.-S.V

It was a whopper of a weekend.

The Lemon Grove Sheriff's office arrested 56 people Thursday through Sunday. The list includes juveniles as well as adults and charges ranged from narcotics to shoplift.

Meanwhile the burglars were out, too.

On Saturday, Harry H. Weitzer, of 7538 Zemco, Lemon Grove, told sheriff's deputies that a mini-motorcycle, a GE radio and a socket wrench set, all valued at $415 was stolen from his residence while he was at work.

Transceiver Taken

On Friday, Thomas A. Damberger, of 8165 Alton, Lemon Grove, reported that a Motorola low-band transceiver valued at $800 was taken from his 1967 Jeep between Wednesday and Friday as he drove it about the countryside.

Duane W. Emery, of 2109 Bonita st., Lemon Grove, told police Friday that some wigs and some tools with a total value of $75 was taken from his home while he was out of the city.

Engine Block Missing

George William Carnes, of 4075 Bancroft st., in Spring Valley, was getting ready to put a 1952 Ford block in his vehicle but left to go to the store. When he returned a little more than an hour later the block was gone. He said he had $450 invested in the block.

Storage Shed Looted

Sam J. McCauley, of 10707 Jamacha blvd., Spring Valley, told police Friday that someone had entered his storage shed by removing the pins from the door hinge. Gone were his power tools including two drills, a saw and a belt sander.

His loss, he said, was about $200.

Stereo Stolen

While Ann Beverly Brown was away from her residence at 10030 San Juan st., Spring Valley, someone slipped open a sliding glass door to take her stereo and tape player which she values at $98.

Thief Takes Guns

Antique guns was the loot of a burglar who apparently came through an unlocked door to take three guns from the home of Earl R. DeVore, of 9005 Redfield, Spring Valley, on Sunday.

The three antiques, a 12 gauge shotgun and two .22 cal. rifles have a value of $850, he told police.

Coat Hanger is Opener

A thief used a coat hanger to open the auto of Louis A. Lavorn, who lives at 817 Carlsbad, in Spring Valley. Not only was his 8-track tape deck stolen, complete with tapes, valued at $115 but the thief slashed the seats of his car inflicting an additional $400 worth of damage.

It happened Saturday night while he was asleep in his home.

Loss is $467.95

On Saturday, down on 937 Grand ave., in Spring Valley where Thomas James Lang lives, someone entered his storage shed and removed a tune-up kit, a two-speed drill and miscellaneous tools, all valued at $467.95.

San Miguel ECE Gets High Marks

The report card for San Miguel Elementary School's Early Childhood Education (ECE) Program was issued last week and showed straight A's.

Thursday, two evaluators from the State Department of Education spent an entire day assessing the new primary school concept. The evaluation team leader made the comment that of the fifty some programs he has evaluated across the state, San Miguel's was at the top.

The ECE Program was designed to provide additional materials and paraprofessionals for developing an individualized learning situation for students, with particular emphasis on improving learning in reading and mathematics and for developing a partnership between the community and the school in this effort through parent involvement and parent education components.

The evaluation team rates 44 separate areas of the ECE program in each school on a scale from 0 to 9. Along that scale, a 5 rates as good, a 6 as very good, a 7 as excellent, an 8 as superior and a 9 as being exemplary and of such outstanding quality to be listed as a component available for visitation by persons throughout the state who wish to see the very best in ECE implementation.

San Miguel scored 9's in 26 rating areas, 8's in 10 areas, 7's in seven areas and a 6 in one area to give a composite rating of 8.4 overall.

Although there are several similar ECE programs in progress throughout the state, San Miguel is currently the only school in the Lemon Grove District which is receiving state ECE funding.

Rental Firm Loses 1-Bag Cement Mixer

The man ordered a cement mixer from Pat's Rental's, 8591 Paradise rd., Spring Valley on Saturday.

He gave the name of a well-known construction firm together with a purchase order number.

He suggested that it be delivered to the K-Mart parking lot on Sweetwater rd. — presumably so that the open space would provide room so it could be more easily attached to his vehicle for hauling to a job.

The client would not be there so leave the mixer, he told a Pat's employee. "I'll assume full responsibility," he added.

Pat's Rental reported later to the sheriff's office the loss of the one-bag cement mixer after learning that the well-known construction firm had not ordered the mixer; had no employee by the name given by the renter, and had no purchase order in the series he used.

The loss to the rental firm is $1,200.00.

Marijuana Charge Stems From Auto Taillight Problem

Gary Lee Fletcher, 19, of 8017 Drexel ct., Lemon Grove was stopped by sheriff's deputies because the taillight reflector of his auto was broken.

The strong odor of burned marijuana caused the officer to inquire about there being marijuana in the vehicle.

The officer reported that Fletcher urged him to search the car. There, on a suitcase, was a box about 10"x12" in which was marijuana and paraphernalia.

The official report showed that brass, ceramic and water pipes; zig-zag cigarette papers and a medical clamp, commonly used as a roach holder, were in the box.

Records also indicate that 442 grams of marijuana and 10.8 grams of hashish were also in the box.

Fletcher is scheduled to be arraigned in El Cajon Municipal Court.

'Pot' Growing Is Charged to Three Youths

Sheriff's deputies charged three Spring Valley youths with cultivation of marijuana Friday after they found growing plants in the place they occupied.

The youths were Terry Lynn Davis, 19; Alan Ray Rohrback, 19, and Daniel Glen Taylor, 18, all of 3600 S. Bonita st., Spring Valley.

Police records show that they also found hand-rolled marijuana cigarettes weighing 16.3 grams; three plants two-to-three feet tall; 16 roaches; a paper bag with marijuana leaves in it; cigarette papers and pipes.

They are scheduled to be arraigned in El Cajoon Municipal Court.

Probation Given In Tape Case

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — A Spring Valley man, reported the leader in an elleged scheme to pirate eight-track tape recordings at a Bonita factory, was put on two years' probation and ordered to make restitution to victimized companies in Judge William Low's Superior Court.

Richard Arlin Meneley, 34, of 8871 Troy st., was one of eight persons indicted in July by the County Grand Jury in connection with operation of the pirating plant in Bonita.

State Tax Overpay Refunds Ready Soon

SACRAMENTO—Refunds to over five million Californians who overpaid their State Income Tax during 1974 are being prepared for mailing by State Controller Ken Corey.

"That total also includes payments to those who qualify for the Tax Credit for Renters even though they do not have an income tax liability," he said.

The Controller said his office is prepared to issue the first refunds as soon as refund information on early-bird taxpayers is received from the Franchise Tax Board which processes income tax returns.

"Early filing will help taxpayers get their refunds earlier and at the same time reduce the size of the logjam which is inevitable as the April 15 deadline moves closer", he said, noting that the Franchise Tax Board expects about eight million returns to be filed this year.

5.5 million refunds were issued last year at an average of $116 per per refund.

A special one-time tax credit last year increased the number of refunds, but population growth, inflation and other factors probably will keep the total near the same level this year it is believed.

Overwithholding Refunds

About 4.5 million refunds will be made to persons whose income tax was overwithheld from wages. Other refunds will go to non-withholding taxpayers who overpaid on tax estimates, and to people who rent their place of residence but do not have income tax liability matching or exceeding their Tax Credit for Renters.

The income tax credit for renters is designed to extend property tax relief to those who do not own their dwellings. Those who qualify for the 1974 tax year must have been California residents on March 1, 1974, and rented and occupied a dwelling which was their principal place of residence. A mobile home owned by the occupant but located on rented land meets the qualifications for this credit.

A full year of credit for such rental occupancy can range from $25 to $45 depending on the level of the adjusted gross income of the claimant. In cases where there is no net income tax liability to which the credit may be applied, or if the credit exceeds the liability, the claimant will receive a direct refund. An income tax return must be filed in order to receive the credit, even if the claimant otherwise is not subject to filing an income tax return.

Taxpayers are urged to read carefully the instructions on Pages 1 and 2 of the State Income Tax Form 540.

"If those instructions are followed and the tax form properly completed and signed, we are prepared to issue refunds within two days after receiving the refund information from the Franchise Tax Board", Cory said.

Auto Theft Charge Added To Other Woes

The sheriff's deputy could hardly believe his eyes.

There, in front of him, at 3:35 a.m. Sunday a 1953 Chevy truck rolled over opposite lanes of traffic and dropped into the area operated by Hunter's Nursery on Troy st., just west of Sweetwater in Lemon Grove.

The deputy rushed to the vehicle which had come to a stop in an upright position, and found David Comstock, 21, of 3524 Main st., Lemon Grove, still in the truck.

The deputy said that Comstock was apparently uninjured but he smelled strong of alcoholic beverage.

According to the police report, Comstock answered a question by saying "The truck is not mine. I guess I stole it."

He then allegedly recounted how he "had been drinking beer because I was depressed."

What was he depresssed about?

He said he was depressed regarding a court appearance he must make shortly on a 459 Penal Code charge.

What is a 459?

That's a burglary charge.

Now he has another depressing problem.

Police charged him with grand theft, auto.

Youth Faces Rape Charge

A 14-year old high school girl was allegedly raped by a 14-year old youth after he is reported to have pushed her into a concrete ditch that parallels Sweetwater rd.

The incident is said to have taken place about 8:30 p.m. on Friday.

She was able to describe the youth and sheriff's deputies arrested him shortly thereafter.

He admitted being in the ditch with her.

Bible Mission Sends Word In Over 100 Languages

New York—For the first time new readers of 100 languages can read God's Word for themselves, thanks to "Good News for New Readers", the American Bible Society's worldwide Scripture literacy program.

The program brings the Gospel to people of all ages who are just learning to read. Five levels of Scripture Literacy Selections help increase their reading ability until they can read the entire Bible or New Testament available in their language.

The Rev. Warner A. Hutchinson, general secretary of the Bible Society responsible for translation and distribution, announced that the first of the five levels of Scripture Literacy Selections now available in 100 languages has been distributed to new readers in more than 46 countries around the globe.

"Actually", said Mr. Huchinson, "the Selections have been translated into 120 languages at the first level, but 15 are still in the production process and another five will be printed shortly. All together, these languages are spread throughout the world. More than half are Asian languages and the remainder are about equally split between Africa and the Americas".

Mr. Hutchinson stated that no one really knows how many new readers have been helped in their struggle to realize true reading ability.

"We do know, however," he said, "that significant numbers have discovered Jesus Christ while practicing their new-found skills from letters and comments from missionaries and local Bible Society and church leaders."

"What this means," concluded Mr. Hutchinson, "is that for the first time hundreds of thousands of new readers have had the opportunity to increase their reading skills and at the same time learn God's Word in their own language. Also, it means that now we can offer that same opportunity, with appropriate support from concerned Christians everywhere, to the hundreds of millions of new readers entering the world of print on every continent."

The American Bible Society is a non-profit, non-denominational organization whose only purpose is the translation, production and distribution of the Holy Scriptures, without doctrinal note or comment. The Society is supported through contributions from churches and individuals who share its purpose.

Berlinski Pens 'America 1976' As Tribute to Bicentennial

Ringing in the approach of our nation's 200th birthday next year will be "America 1976", a new symphony commissioned by the San Diego Symphony Association, according to Robert Christian, Symphony General Manager. The work by composer Jacques Berlinski holds its world premiere under the baton of Maestro Peter Eros on May 20, 1976 in the Civic Theatre.

Composer Berlinski and his wife were guests of honor at the Civic Luncheon sponsored by the Symphony Orchestra Association January 15 at Vacation Village Hotel.

"America 1976", Berlinski's fourth symphony, is a work for full orchestra, choir and narrator. It took four years of intensive work as the composer researched the words of many of the founders of our country. It includes works by Patrick Henry, Thomas Jefferson, Samuel Adams and others.

"The courage and wisdom of the signers of the Declaration of Independence are expressed by the narrator with the choirs representing the people's pride and happiness. The moments of tenderness as well as the dramatic accents come from the orchestra," Berlinski explained.

Berlinski, born in Poland, has dedicated the work to the United States, his adopted land. He and his wife, Micheline, became citizens in 1972 and live in Reseda, California. His works have been performed in many countries of the world including France, Belgium, South Africa, Australia and the United States.

Naturalist Closes 'Alive' Series

A program titled "Rejuvenation Through Nature Appreciation" features Thomas A. Sterling, naturalist and National Audubon Society speaker, narrating his feature-length, color film "Twentieth Century Wilderness" at 7:30 tonight in the Grossmont Hospital Auditorium. The program, sponsored by Grossmont College, Grossmont Hospital's medical staff and Women's Auxiliary, closes the series titled "Stay Alive in '75".

To many individuals of our "technological space age", the word wilderness may have only one meaning. Sterling introduces the audience to the many varieties of wilderness. The film follows the Sandhill Crane from its micro-wilderness environment in southern Michigan to the Everglades of Florida. The prairie wilderness is explored where the bison, pronghorn and coyote strike a tenuous ecological balance with the soil. Yellowstone and its remnant grizzy population are shown in their mountain wilderness. The canyon country wilderness and its golden eagle, big horn sheep, prairie chicken and limpkin complete the visit to the country's wildernesses.

The public is invited to view this wilderness film and enjoy "Rejuvenation Through Nature Appreciation". There is no charge for admission.

Ionesco's Comedy-Drama Stays Over at Centre Stage

The west coast premiere of the newest drama by international dramatist Eugene Ionesco is currently being performed at the Carter Centre Stage in Balboa Park. "Macbett" will continue nightly except Monday through February 23. Evening performances begin at 8 p.m. Sunday afternoon showings are scheduled each Sunday in February at 2 p.m.

Ionesco humorously divulges the tragic corruptive consequences of self-centered power and ambition in "Macbett". Loosely based on the Shakespeare tragedy of "Macbeth", the author treats the subject in a comedic fashion. Ionesco believes that humor has the capacity to "make us conscious, with a free lucidity, of the tragic or desultory condition of man."

Play's Meaning

The meaning of the play is summed up in the words of Macbett through his comment that "history is full of tricks . . . we unleash forces that we cannot control and which end up by turning against us. Man doesn't rule events, events rule him."

Hal Chidnoff and Bette Laws portray the principal roles of Macbett and Lady Macbett with John Wesley Houston, Jr. as Banco and Jarlath Lynch as Duncan. Portraying various roles in the parody are Carl Weintraub, James Black, Milivoj M. Marinkovic, Holly Kress, Kenneth Starcevic, David L. Jensen, Keith R. Johnson, Barbara Herring, Tedd DeLong, Steve Gray, Misty Mitchell, Michael J. Burke, Brian Lievens, Heidi Hall and Sally Meltzer.

Try Whale Meat

Whale meat is common man's beef in Japan. At recent market prices, it costs one-fifth to one-third the price of beef and is less than half as expensive as pork and about two-thirds as expensive as chicken, according to the Japan Whaling Information Center, New York.

Religious prohibitions against eating meat from four-footed animals prevalent in Japan prior to the Meiji Era (1868-1912) made the ocean an important source of protein. Fish, shellfish, and whale meat are still prominent in the Japanese diet, the Center said.

This Week's RECIPE

Mediterranean Fish Dish

Fish stew is wonderfully trouble-free when you start with prepared sauces. This one had its origins in Italy, where thrifty cooks rely on fish for many one-dish meals.

- ¾ lb. ea. flounder fillets, bass and halibut
- ½ cup olive oil
- 1 onion, chopped
- 1 clove garlic
- 1 jar (16 oz.) Marinara Sauce
- ¼ cup white wine
- 1 lb. shrimp, shelled and deveined
- ¾ tbsp. chopped parsley
- 2 cups rice

Cut fish into 2-inch pieces. Heat oil in large pot over medium heat. Add onion. Cook until golden. Add Marinara Sauce and garlic; cook for 5 minutes. Add fish and shrimp. Bring to a boil; reduce heat; simmer 10 minutes. Just before removing from heat, add parsley. Arrange fish stew on bed of rice, steamed or boiled according to package directions. Serves 6.

Because you asked.

In our continuing dialog with the community, SDG&E is asked certain questions again and again. Since they represent areas of special concern to a great many people, we will answer these "most-asked" questions for all of our customers through this series of newspaper columns.

Let's Talk Future Energy Supply

1. Do we have enough oil in the U.S. without having to depend on other countries?

Not at the present. We could have in the future with new wells, the extraction of shale oil and the relieving of governmental restrictions which have made it economically impractical to drill wells in this country. Right now we don't know how to extract oil from shale without leaving tremendous piles of debris. Once oil is removed, what remains is pulverized rock with at least a 12% greater volume than the original material. However, when shale oil does become financially and environmentally practical, we could have as much as 1,000,000 barrels of oil a day from this source alone!

2. Where does the oil used by SDG&E come from?

SDG&E buys its oil directly from refineries in three states: Alaska, California and Hawaii. The crude oil processed in these refineries comes primarily from Alaska, Oman in the Middle East, Brunei in Borneo and Indonesia.

3. What will happen if foreign countries decide to shut off supplies again?

Despite the fact that the bulk of our fuel oil comes from Alaska and Indonesia which are not as volatile as the Arab oil producers, any embargo would bring about the same problems we had in 1973 and early 1974 . . . shortages, higher costs, immediate fuel allocations, rationing and, perhaps, heavy penalties for oil use violations.

4. What is SDG&E doing about future energy needs since the energy crisis?

We are making every effort to provide for the future needs of our customers without unnecessarily draining our dwindling supplies of oil and natural gas. Our three major efforts are: the expansion of the San Onofre Nuclear Generating Station with the additions of Units 2 and 3 . . . the development of the Kaiparowits Power Plant which will use the high quality coal of Utah's Kaiparowits Plateau . . . and the development of the Sun Desert Nuclear Power Plant near Blythe, California. In addition, we are exploring for gas and oil in Western Colorado and the San Joaquin Valley. We, and our associates, are making every effort to utilize the geothermal resources in the Imperial Valley. And we are researching the use of solar energy and power generation from industrial waste.

In the meantime, we are expanding, hopefully for the last time, two of our fossil fuel power stations in San Diego County.

5. Was there an energy crisis . . . and are we still in one?

Yes, there was and there is an energy crisis. The Arab oil embargo brought the problem quickly and forceably into full view. But "crisis" was a bad choice of descriptive words, because it implied a short-term problem which could be relieved by some sort of immediate, drastic action. In reality, the problem of fuel and energy shortages will remain a serious situation well into the next decade when we can begin using sources of power other than our diminishing supplies of fossil fuels.

6. Is there any gain in coal research as a source of energy?

We firmly believe that coal is a resource that must be used during the time needed to completely develop nuclear power. In addition to our plans for a coal utilization plant at Kaiparowits, we have invested $100,000 in a research project to convert coal into pipe-line quality gas and clean liquid fuels. This two-year program could provide means to convert all of our plentiful coal into synthetic gas for use in power production.

7. Has SDG&E looked into research and development of solar energy?

We are extremely interested in solar energy and hope soon to have a "solar home" project in San Diego, featuring solar comfort control and water heating. However, solar energy as a large-scale alternative to gas or electric energy is some distance away because of the extremely high costs involved in collecting and storing the energy.

8. What success are you having in the development of geothermal wells?

Right now, we are continuing our research to find ways to deal with geothermal brine which is eight to ten times as salty as seawater. This waste brine is destructive not only to the environment, but to our equipment as well. We have brought in geothermal experts familiar with the latest technology and hope to put the wells to work for us soon.

9. At the present rate of usage, when will natural gas and oil supplies be exhausted?

Again, the answer to this depends on many variables. But at our present rate of usage, our known domestic reserves of gas and oil could be depleted by the end of this century.

10. When will the Alaskan pipeline be completed, and how will this affect the supply and cost of oil in Southern California?

The Alaskan pipeline is expected to be providing about 600,000 barrels of oil a day in the third quarter of 1977. We do not expect this additional input to dramatically affect either the supply or cost of oil in Southern California. There will still be a deficiency of crude oil and resultant high prices.

For more information . . .
If you have additional questions on this subject, we will do our best to provide answers. Please write: Mr. John Hamrick, Vice President—Marketing, SDG&E, P.O. Box 1831, San Diego, CA 92112.

MAN-MADE MOLECULES— Synthetic rubber produced in only 60 seconds is one of the demonstrations to be viewed by La Presa students at Tuesday's "Previews of Progress" program.

La Presa to See 'Progress'

Local students will get a peek at the future when General Motors' "Previews of Progress appears at La Presa Intermediate School, Tuesday.

The non-commercial show, according to General Motors President Elliott Esters, "seeks to inspire more student interest in science, engineering, and related technical and vocational careers to provide the trained talent America needs to keep pace with the promise of the future."

Previews of Progress demonstrations depict work being done today in America's research laboratories and point out the contributions of research to modern living. A two-man team narrates the live show in non-technical language.

Featured in the show is explanation and demonstration of the catalytic converter and a demonstration using a laser beam which translates sound into visual patterns of light. The students will see a total of nine examples of research-in-action.

Course is for Poultry Farmers

Managing Small Poultry Units is a course being offered by the Adult Education School, El Cajon. The course is being offered for the second semester as part of a program to further information on Animal Agriculture. A similar course presented a year ago was well received.

Classes will be held Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m., starting January 30. In addition to the regular Thursday evening meetings, several Saturday field tours are included in the semester's program.

Registrants should contact Mr. M. C. Grant, adult school registrar, at El Cajon High School, 442-2401. Classes will be conducted at the high school.

UCSD Weekend Workshop Topic is Laughing Matter

A clinical psychologist who believes that the experience of shared laughter brings people closer together will conduct "The Psychology of Humor" for UCSD Extension the weekend of February 7-9.

Harvey Mindess, author of Laughter and Liberation, leads the workshop which begins Friday at 7 p.m. in Room 1105 of UCSD's School of Medicine.

A special highlight of the weekend is "Feiffer's People", a one-hour "living demonstration" of the work of the satirist Jules Feiffer, performed by a troupe from UCLA's Theatre Arts Department.

During the three-day program, Dr. Mindess will survey the many forms of humor—including nonsense, sarcasm, ribaldry, satire, "sick humor", and conundrums—as well as analyze humor"s development through the life cycle, and the role it plays in interpersonal dynamics.

Laughter is important in relationships, says Mindess, because it is "very much connected with liberating us from many kinds of inner inhibitions".

Further discussion will explore theories of humor from the ancient Greek dramatist Aristophanes to the French philosopher Henri Bergson, who felt humor was an "antidote to inflexibility"'.

Registration fee of $36 is charged to enrollees at the door.

Volunteers Needed

The Navy Regional Medical Center needs Red Cross volunteers to work 1:30 to 4 p.m. weekdays. Volunteers will instruct bed-patients on crafts projects. The San Diego Chapter of the American Red Cross may be reached at 291-2620.

Catchers Signed by Padres

The San Diego Padres have signed all three of their catchers listed on the club's 40-man winter roster it was announced today by Padres General Manager Peter Bavasi.

The three are Fred Kendall, Chris Cannizzaro and Bob Davis. Kendall was the Padres number one man last season, finishing with a batting average of .231 and ranking fourth on the club in home runs and runs batted in. Cannizzaro joined the Padres late in the season from Houston's Denver farm club when an injury to back-up man Bob Barton reduced the catching corps to just Kendall. An original Padre back in 1969 when the club first began operation, Cannizzaro hit .183 in 26 games, but caught some of the best games turned in by the pitching staff.

Davis was somewhat of a hard-luck player for the Padres a year ago. He spent the entire season with the Pads Triple-A Hawaii club in the Pacific Coast League and wound up with a .230 batting mark. He would have been called up when Barton was injured, but he was just coming off a broken wrist himself, forcing the Padres to look outside their own organization and into the trade market.

Cannizzaro is currently running thrice weekly workouts for the Padres living in the area at San Diego State's field Monday, Wednesdays and Fridays at 1 p.m. Kendall will be coming down on an infrequent basis in the next few weeks to take part in some of the sessions. Davis will be reporting directly to spring training from his home in Oklahoma.

Classes Set For Umpiring

A class in Baseball Umpiring will be conducted at the University of California Extension on February 7, according to Bob Moss, a popular teacher-sports official who will hold the class.

Emmett Ashford, retired American League umpire, will take part in the February 7 class. He is the first black umpire in the majors and a pioneer of the flamboyant umpire mechanics.

The classes are designed for men and women and will be held in the Recreation Classroom of UCSD, La Jolla, February 7, 7-10 p.m.; February 8 and 9, 5 p.m.

Auto Tune-ups Class To Start at Mt. Miguel

Technical clinics on car engine ignition systems, tune-ups, and spark plug problems will be presented to automotive classes of Mt. Miguel High School on Monday by a team of technical representatives of the Robert Bosch Corp.

Three special vans staffed with automotive experts and equipped with Bosch diagnostic equipment have been assigned to San Diego area schools for a two-week period. They are scheduled to give more than 50 classroom clinics and demonstrations during this period, many days beginning at 7 a.m. and finishing with adult evening classes at 10 p.m.

San Diego is the first area in the country to be offered this new public service program by the Robert Bosch Corp., according to Albert J. Burkett, manager of the special products division.

Cuts Fuel Use

"Education and training on electrical automotive systems were never more important than they are right now," Burkett stated. "Skyrocketing fuel prices and predicted shortages emphasize the need for maximum engine efficiency. We should also remember that a well-tuned engine greatly reduces the emission of pollutants."

Burkett pointed out that tests show one of every five cars on the highway wastes an estimated 100 to 150 gallons of gas each year. "That means there's an incredible amount of fuel and money being wasted nationally. The Robert Bosch Corporation is doing what it can in San Diego, via these clinics, to help fight that tremendous loss."

200 Riders Set For S.B. Track

The second round of CMC Motocross Motorcycle racing at the South Bay Park Speedway in Chula Vista will be Sunday when more than 200 riders tackle the new 1-mile course.

Riders found the new longer course to their liking in the January 19th season opener, but Racing Director Don Basile expects an even better circuit this time, as he has added several tons of sand to the track. The day long event starts at 9 a.m.

The day's racing is open to professional intermediate and junior class riders on 100, 125, 250, and 500 c.c. machines, plus a class for mini-stock riders. Professional riders will battle in 12 lap events, while intermediate and junior riders go in 10 lap races.

Gates open at 7 a.m. for riders to sign-in, with practice runs at 7:30 a.m.

Racquetball Tourney Opens

Senior Open National Invitational Racquetball Doubles Championship will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Muehleisen Courts, 702 Broadway, El Cajon.

The games are open to the public and free.

On Friday games are 9, 12, 3 and 6 p.m.

Saturday, 9, 11, 3, 4 and 6 p.m.

Sunday, 9, 12, 1 and 4 p.m.

Participants will be 35 years of age or older. Defending champions are Dr. Bud Muehleisen of San Diego and Myron Roderick of Stillwater, Kansas.

All-Stars on Floor In Friday Q's Game

A total of five all-stars will be in uniform Friday night when the San Diego Conquistadors take on the second place San Antonio Spurs in Western Division ABA play.

Tipoff time is set for 8 p.m.

Caldwell Jones will be the Conquistadors representative, replacing the injured Travis Grant, who was to have played. Jones has played very well in the last four Q's games, scoring 36, 39, 25 and 18 points. In those four games, CJ has hit on 47 out of 89 shots from the floor (53%) and has pulled down 58 rebounds (over 14 per game). The 39 points was scored last Wednesday (Jan. 22) in St. Louis and was a career high.

The All-Star game will be broadcast over KOGO Radio 60 with Frank Sims calling the play-by-play. Airtime will be 10:15 p.m. which will immediately follow the Mariners hockey broadcast.

The five all-stars include three on the San Antonio roster. Center Swen Nater, guard Jim Silas and forward George Gervin are the Spurs all-star performers to go along with the Q's forward Travis Grant and center Caldwell Jones. Grant will not participate in the January 28th game to be played in San Antonio because of a strained ligament in his left knee.

Seven Meetings

San Diego and San Antonio have met seven times this season and the Spurs hold a 6-1 edge in the series. Forward George Gervin has tallied 190 points in the seven games for an average of 27.1 points per game. Center Swen Nater has been devastating against the Q's, averaging 23.4 rebounds per game and 20.3 points against the locals in his seven appearances.

Travis Grant and Bo Lamar have led the scoring for the Q's in the season series. Grant is averaging 22.7 points and Lamar is hitting on almost 22 points per contest.

Following the game on Friday against the Spurs, the San Diegans head out once again on the road for three games in three nights. Saturday, February 1 the Q's will be in Denver to take on the Western Division leading Nuggets, Sunday (after an all-night plane ride) the opponents will be the New York Nets in the afternoon game and Monday night the 3rd the Squires will host the locals in Norfolk, Va.

The month of February will be a big one for local fans, with nine home games scheduled, six against either first or second place clubs. New York and Kentucky, running neck and neck for the number one spot in the ABA East will be in San Diego twice the month of February to battle the Q's. New York will battle the locals in the Arena on the 5th and the 14th and the Colonels will be the opposition on the 7th and 16th.

Basketball and Karate, Too

San Diego karate enthusiasts will have an opportunity to see one of the best in the business put on a demonstration at halftime of the Conquistadors-Kentucky Colonels game at the Sports Arena on Friday night. Putting on the karate demonstration will be Master Jong Lee, representing the Tang Soo Do Karate Schools.

Master Lee is a 7th degree black belt in the art of karate and will be showing his skills during the 15-minute halftime break.

World Miler Tony Waldrop Listed For Indoor Games

SAN DIEGO—Some of the world's fastest track and field athletes will compete in the ninth annual San Diego Indoor Games, 7:30 p.m. Saturday, February 15, at the San Diego Sports Arena.

Among athletes entering the invitational meet will be former North Carolina star Tony Waldrop, who set a world indoor mile record of 3:55 last year at San Diego. He will face Filbert Bayi of Tanzania and John Walker of New Zealand, both of whom shattered the seven-year-old world record of 3:32.2 in the 1,500 meters event during the Commonwealth Games last winter.

Another challenger for the mile race will be Brigham Young's Paul Cummings, the NCAA champion who scored two straight victories over Waldrop last spring.

World class athletes will be featured in all events. Rick Wohlhuter, world record holder in the 880, has been invited to compete in the 1000. Francie Larrieu, who set the women's' mile indoor record, and Steve Prefontain, two-mile record holder, will be defending their championships.

Champion Shot Putter

Rival shot putters Al Feuerbach, world outdoor record holder at 71-7, and George Woods, world indoor champion at 72-2¾ (longest throw in the history of the event), will again face each other in San Diego.

Also matching skills will be San Diegan Steven Williams and Jamaican Don Quarrie in the 100 meters event; Olympic champion Randy Williams and San Diegans Arnie Robinson and Bouncy Moore will join the long jump competition.

Another full schedule of events will feature high school students and jaycee track stars starting at 6 p.m. Top San Diego County preps will meet prep stars from out of the area.

Granite Hills' Tim Earle, Monte Vista's Jim Austin 7th in the CIF cross country finals), Grossmont's Chuck Hattersley would seem to be facing Mission Impossible at the Indoor Games.

Six Milers

The two are among six San Diego area milers who will try to uphold the county's honor against a visitor from the north.

It will not be an easy task.

Ralph Serna, of Loara High in Anaheim is one of America's premier high school milers, coming into the meet with a best outdoors of 4:03.5.

How well he does against San Diego County's finest remains to be seen as Earle (4:17.9) and Hattersley (4:22) are coming off strong cross country seasons.

The balance of the field includes Vista's State finalist Jay Woods (4:11), Point Loma's Eric Newberger (4:19) and Crawford's Phil Hendrix (4:18).

Hendrix also had an outstanding cross-country season, capturing the large schools title.

Serna is already a veteran of international races as he defeated the Russians last summer at 5,000 meters. This winter he ran an 8:57 two-mile on the track.

The San Diego Sports Arena track is one of the fastest in the world, with three world records and one American record being set since the indoor games began there. Kerry O'Brien's mark of 8:19.2 in 1971 is still the world record for an 11-lap-to-the-mile indoor track. Tony Waldrop's 3:55.0 for the mile knocked 1 4/10 seconds off the old world indoor mark shared by Jim Ryan and Tom O'Hara; Ryun's 3:56.4 was also made at San Diego, in 1971. Other world's records include Lee Evans' 54.5 for 500 yards and Mary Decker's 2:02.4 for the women's 880.

Ticket prices $6.50, $5.50, and $4.50 including parking; $1 discount will be made for high school students and younger and group rates are

Safety Is Feature At Agua Caliente

AGUA CALIENTE — Many safety precautions for thoroughbred racing have been introduced at Agua Caliente Racetrack — in particular the safety helmet now universally worn by jockeys — and the unique use of an ambuance at the border track is yet another measure of racing precaution provided for the riding corps.

"Since Caliente reopened May 4, 1974, under the direction of Fernando Gonzalez, we have had the track ambulance stationed at the starting gate and then following the horses as they race," pointed out Jack P. Meyers, Caliente's director of racing. "The ambulance is staffed by two men capable of giving emergency first aid on the scene and the vehicle is equipped with oxygen."

"The ambulance first stands by at the gate and then when the race gets underway, follows the field around the track until the finish, at a distance of about one-sixteenth of a mile and can be on the scene immediately should there be a mishap," Meyers noted.

Commenting further on the Caliente racing precautionary measure, Meyers concluded: "If there is an injury, the ambulance attendants can determine on the scene whether the rider can be treated at the track's first aid clinic or should be removed to the hospital.

"We feel Caliente's use of the ambulance is another step in a continuing effort to provide protection and personal safety for the jockeys riding at Agua Caliente."

Women Sports Reporters Are Unendurable To Men

Now just wait a gol darn minute. Things are going too damn far. It was bad enough when TV started womenfolk on weather and news, but gals in sports is almost demanding the unendurable.

Just look at the mess TV is in. Women invade the news room and the first thing that happens is some untalented opportunists blaze a path for mediocrity matching pretty faces (both boys and girls) to daily happenings and the end result is "Happy Talk" entertainment instead of news on local and network broadcasts.

Show Biz. News entertainment. Something to turn off and eat your dinner by.

And now they've really gone too far. Women in sports. Ladies in the dressing room coming on strong with all sorts of booklearning and other suspect expertise.

We should have expected it. From the mentality that brought forth Happy Talk it was just one short step backward to fitting females into sports spots.

So far these sports broad . . . casters have fallen flat . . . on their ratings. As every man knows, sports ain't no fittin' place for females. Not as reporters, it ain't. All they get is our ill will. And rightfully so.

In all the ways that girls don't make it, sports reporting is the biggest place they don't.

You can put it down to chauvinist views if you must, but the truth is every man who hauls a razor over his cheek in the bleak light of a working morning resents some broad enjoying an occupation he dreams as something he would like to be doing.

Live with that, lady libbers. Your women in sports are hitting men where they live . . . in their dreams.

Sports reporting, play-by-play, sideline interviews . . . those things rank up there in male imagination with being attacked by a troop of nymphomanias or winning a $1 million litigation against IRS.

Soo, when guys like ABC's Roone Arledge and Bob Wussler of CBS start using broads in sports spots, you gotta figure they don't give a damn about Joe Fan. They play an inhouse kind of oneupsmanship with something held sacred in most male society . . . the hard hitting reporting of professional sports.

You don't mind broads in broadcasting, but babes in the press box are fillies of a different hue. It's time for men to unite. Cast the interlopers back into the kitchens where they belong.

Oh, the shame of it all. Why, sacrilege that it is, there were even two dollies assigned to the National Hockey League All-Star game . . . dressing room and all.

Even Jack Armstrong would have to turn away. And Billie, too. That honest and true blue sports reporting should come to this.

There is some talk of forming the "Repeal the 19th Amendment" crusade, with the motto being . . . "Get 'em out of the dressing room and back into the bedroom, where they belong."

Men of the sports world unite. You have nothing to lose but your apron strings. The time has come for Male Power. It's time for men to stand stiff.

If these gals aren't stopped now, the next thing you know, they'll be out there wanting to play football and hockey themselves.

Just thinking about it makes my side ache . . . right there where that damn rib used to be. Adam, what the hell have you done?

Hafey, no. 5 Featherweight Puts Future on Line Friday

A trip halfway around the world will be at stake this Friday at the Coliseum when Art Hafey, boxing's fifth ranked featherweight, faces Jorge Valenzuela of Tucson in the 10 round main event.

On February 28th, the Irishman from Pacific Beach is booked in Caracas, Vanezuela, against former junior lightweight king Alfredo Mercano. Then in March, Tokyo will be the site of a duel with Orient champion Apollo Yoshio. But there's a catch.

"If I don't win this Friday, both fights may be cancelled," Art admitted. "I understand one of the promoters is flying in to watch from ringside."

Earlier last month, Hafey gambled in similar fashion and was forced to suffer the consequences. In dropping a split nod to Famoso Gomez on December 17th in Tijuana, Hafey ruined his chances for a certain shot at W.B.A. chaflpion Alexis Arguello.

Valenzuela, originally from Hermosillo, Mexico, is ranked third there in the 126 pound division. Recently scoring two impressive wins, his record currently stands at 27-5-2. Hafey's mark is 31-4-1 with 24 kayos.

The card will get underway at 8:15.

Aztec Cagers Try to Keep String Going

San Diego State will shoot for its third and fourth straight basketball wins in a row this week when the Aztecs host Fresno State tonight and Long Beach State on Saturday in a pair of PCAA games in Peterson Gym. Both games are scheduled to start at 8:05 p.m.

The Aztecs have won two games in a row over UC Santa Barbara and Fullerton State, but have not won three in a row since the tailend of the 1972-73 season when they beat USIU, Los Angeles State and UC Santa Barbara. Long Beach State ended that streak by topping the Aztecs 97-76. The last time San Diego State won four in a row was the 1971-72 season.

Fresno State comes with a 9-7 mark overall and 0-2 in PCAA play. The Bulldogs lost a pair of conference games last week to San Jose State and Pacific by identical 82-74 scores.

Long Beach State is 13-4 for the season, 2-0 in PCAA play and is shooting for its sixth straight conference title. The 49ers have won 54 of 58 games they have played in the PCAA, their last 16 straight in the PCAA and are currently on a five game winning streak this season. Last week Long Beach topped Pacific 87-56 and San Jose State 72-66.

San Diego State ran its overall record to 7-8 and 1-0 in the PCAA last week with a 72-65 win over Fullerton State.

The win for the Aztecs equaled the entire win output of the 1973-74 season and a win over Fresno would mark the first time the Aztecs were at .500 after the first two games into the season since 1972-73.

San Diego State has won seven in a row over Fresno State, but three of those wins have been by one point and another by two. Long Beach has beaten the Aztecs 10 straight dating back to the 1967-68 season. The Aztecs have won six in a row in Peterson Gym.

League-Leading Waves Home for Week-end Pair

The San Diego Wave, leaders in the five-team Winston Volleyball League, play two matches on their home court at the Community Concourse this weekend.

San Diego faces the Santa Monica-Long Beach Sails on Friday and the Anaheim Hamm's on Sunday in the second match of doubleheaders. Los Angeles meets Santa Barbara Friday and Santa Monica-Long Beach Sunday in the first matches starting at 7:30.

Some observers rank San Diego as the Winston League's strongest team following their wins over Los Angeles and Santa Monica-Long Beach in the first two contests of the season.

The Wave overpowered Los Angeles 15-9 and 15-8 in the season opener at Anaheim. Four nights later, before an enthusiastic crowd at the Community Concourse, San Diego prevailed over Santa Monica-Long Beach in the third game after the first two went into extra points.

Jack Henn, Wave coach, expects to start former Olympic stars Randy Stevenson and Duncan McFarland as well as All-American Chris Marlowe and the former UCLA MVP Jeff Jacobs in both weekend matches.

Tickets for Winston League games are $5, $3.50 and $2 with children 12 and under admitted for half price.

Johnny Miller

Miller, Nicklaus Booked For S.D. Andy Williams

Johnny Miller and Jack Nicklaus matching strokes on the seaside fairways of the Torrey Pines course to celebrate the eighth renewal of the $170,000 Andy Williams San Diego Open golf tournament on Feb. 13-16.

This fond and fanciful dream of local tournament officials suddenly became a real prospect with the announcement by the world's two greatest golfers that they planned to play here.

Miller comes off 14 and 9-stroke victories over the fields at the Phoenix and Dean Martin Tucson Opens, the Phoenix margin an all-time record. His respective totals in the first events of the season of 260 and 263 were 24 and 25 under par and the 72-hole total at Phoenix was the lowest in 20 years.

Nicklaus, relegated to second place in 1974 earnings by Miller who won a remarkable eight tour events last year, should be ready by this time for an all-out defense of his long-time status as the kingpin of golf.

Nicklaus' credentials have stood the test of time. Since going on the tour in 1962, he has six times been first in money won, never lower than fourth, making him the all-time leader in career earnings with $2,243,623. His 14 wins in major tournaments topped Bobby Jones' previous record of 13. In a brief 13 years he won 53 tour events including three U. S. Opens, two British Opens, three PGA's, four Masters and two U. S. Amateur titles.

Record Breaker

But along came Johnny last year to shatter Nicklaus' one-year money-won record with $353,021, his eight tour wins the most since Arnold Palmer in 1960 (Nicklaus had seven in 1972). Miller won the first three tournaments in 1974, then missed the AWSDO because of the flu.

This year, as though to convince Nicklaus and all of us it wasn't a fluke, Miller has won the first two events with sensational golf, averaging 65.4 strokes a round for eight rounds. But for two putts barely missed in his closing round of 61 at Tucson, a tournament player would have been in the 50's for the first time in golf history.

It would seem the challenge to Jack Nicklaus' dominance of the game of golf has been amply stated. Now we'll see at Torrey Pines what Jack proposes to do about it.

Melendez Heads Youth Team

The San Diego baseball Athletics appointed Javier Melendez as batting coach and director of player personnel for the 1975 season.

Melendez, 27, a resident of Chula Vista, is president of the Kosmos de Tijuana semi-pro club in the Baja California League. He replaces Helix High varsity coach Bob Lucas, originally named to the post of batting instructor.

The Athletics, a locally based independent youth club, compete against out of state prep teams during the spring. In June, the team will leave for a six week tour of Mexico.

Baseball Film Ready at Padres

Highlights of baseball's top two spectator attractions in 1974, the World Series and the All-Star game, can be seen again on the annual films produced by Major League Baseball which are now available through the San Diego Padres.

Both films are now available for booking and can be reserved by calling the Padres at 283-4494 or dropping by the Padre Ticket Office at San Diego Stadium on level 1-A. A refundable $10 deposit is required on all films.

The World Series film relives all the memorable moments from the Oakland A's 2-1 triumph over the Los Angeles Dodgers including all the key plays from Oakland's clinching 3-2 win in the fifth and final game.

The film is introduced by the popular Vin Scully and narrated by NBC's Curt Gowdy, and runs 26 minutes.

The All-Star Game highlight film also runs 26 minutes with Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium being the setting for the National League's 7-2 triumph. Narrated by Lindsey Nelson, the movie also touches on such momentous events in 1974 as Hank Aaron's 715th home run and Al Kaline's 3000th major league hit.

Apart from these two films, the Padres also have available the following movies: World Series Highlights 1973-1972-1971, 1970: Baseball's Booming Year, 1969; Baseball's Historic Year, Baseball-1968, Great Moments in Baseball, All-Star Game Highlights 1972-1971, What Makes an All-Star, All-Star Batting Tips, All-Star Pitching Tips, Baeseball: The Now Career and Baseball vs. Drugs.

According to the announcement, the speakers will be available for service clubs and other organizations at luncheon and dinner meetings and may be scheduled through the Cancer Crusade office, 280-1234.

On the speakers' roster are: Lance Alworth, former San Diego Charger and Dallas Cowboy receiver; Bob Babich, Cleveland Brown's middle linebacker; Jimmy Hill and Willie Buchanon, Greenbay Packer's defensive backs; John Brockington, Packer's defensive back; John Hadl, Packer's quarterback; Terry Owens and Gary Garrison, of the Chargers and others as they become available.

Hadl is one of the co-chairmen of the cancer banquet committee.

Search On For Hazardous Ammunition

Federal Cartridge Corp. is continuing its efforts to recall certain lots of caliber .303 British rifle cartridges.

When used in some rifles, these cartridges can rupture, causing damage to the rifle or serious personal injury.

The ammunition was manufactured more than ten years ago and has been the subject of previous recall efforts.

However, recent reports, one of which involved personal injury, indicate that some of the original rounds may still remain in the hands of hunters.

Anyone having .303 British ammunition with a headstamp on the brass cartridge case reading FC 303 BRITISH should check the lot numbers which are printed on the rear or inside the end flap of the box containing the ammunition. Lot numbers being recalled begin with the number 36 (for example, 36B29W303-A) or a letter and 36 (for example, S36A6W303-A). Boxes for such cartridges may carry these brand names: Federal, Hawthorne (Montgomery-Ward), Revelation (Western Auto), Sears-Roebuck and American Eagle.

Persons having this ammunition should not use it. They should call toll-free to 800-328-8624 or write: Federal Cartridge, PO Box 231, Anoka, Minnesota, 55303.

Since ammunition cannot legally be mailed, the company should be contacted first for proper return instructions and refund information.

The notice concerns only .303 British rifle cartridges as described above, and no other ammuition manufactured by Federal Cartridge is involved, it was said.

Prepare Now For Next Earthquake

San Diego County is Earthquake country, as is the entire State of California, according to the San Diego County Office of Emergency Services.

To help citizens prepare for a possible earthquake, OES has published a booklet on earthquake safety procedures.

The booklet explains briefly what actually happens during an earthquake and what dangers it presents.

It provides readers with suggestions on what can be done before an earthquake occurs and what to do during and after the tremor. Preparing for a natural disaster before it occurs is the only way to save lives and minimize damage, and that process is explained in the booklet.

The booklet is available to county residents by writing the Office of Emergency Services, 7939 John Towers ave., Santee 92071 or by calling 448-4611.

IRS Offers Tips For Faster Refund

Los Angeles — With the tax-filing period upon us, taxpayers should begin to gather their records and make sure they are complete and in proper order, the Internal Revenue Service advised.

"Taxpayers who itemize their deductions," William H. Connett, Acting IRS District Director for Southern Calif., said, "should collect such items as check stubs to substantiate charitable contributions, bank statements to account for mortgage payments, records that show interest paid on charge accounts or auto payments, bills for medical or dental costs, records of union dues, paid, etc."

He advised taxpayers to assemble records as soon as possible. "That way you have plenty of time," he said, "to look for or obtain records supporting important deductions you are entitled to take and you avoid last-minute errors."

Connett said that gathering records early enables a taxpayer to file sooner and receive a refund faster. "As a matter of fact," he said, "taxpayers might well give serious thought now to setting up a recordbreaking system for next year's filing."

Connett also stressed that married taxpayers filing either joint or separate returns should make sure that the social security numbers of both husband and wife appear on the Forms 1040 or 1040A filed.

Taxpayers with extra income from a sideline job were reminded to determine whether such income is subject to self-employment tax.

The first social security check was issued to Ida Fuller, Brattleboro, Vt., in January 1940. It was for $22.54.

Guess Who?

LOOK FAMILIAR? If so, take the above photo to this merchant's place of business in the central Lemon Grove shopping district. The first person to do so will be awarded a gift certificate from the merchant. Last week, Mrs. R. Martin, 7540 Madison, Lemon Grove, identified Pauline Sowell, waitress at Winchell's Donut House, 7863 Broadway. She was awarded a certificate for three dozen donuts. The contest, in its 17th week, acquaints residents with merchandise and services available locally.

Gas Use Down

Board of Equalization Chairman John W. Lynch reported recently that for the 12th straight month gasoline consumption dropped in California from the same month a year ago, as measured by data on distribution of gasoline to retail outlets. November, 1974 distribution was 5.9 percent below that of November, 1973.

Wild Animal Park Gains Reputation as Species Preserve

An impressed Rogers C. B. Morton, Secretary of the Interior, said on a recent visit to the San Diego Wild Animal Park, ". . . it will do more for the conservation and preservation of endangered species than anything."

The Park opened in May, 1972 with only 150 species and 973 specimens. Today the number of animal specimens has risen to 1,646. There were 775 births and hatchings at the park in 1974 alone, of which 606 survived.

"We have a 78 per cent survival rate at the Wild Animal Park," said Dr. James Dolan, general curator. He claims that the figure is highest for any zoological collection in the world and probably exceeds the survival rate of animals born in the wild by over 5 per cent.

The reproduction rates have been so high that it is now possible for the Park to supply certain species to other zoological institutions, thus eliminating their need to draw on the wild population," Dolan said.

A.D.A.—Extra Ingredient In California Education

by State Senator H. L. Richardson

A San Francisco newspaper recently reported about a young man named Lewis White, recently discharged from the United States Air Force.

Being honorably discharged is hardly newsworthy, but the reason for Mr. White's release most certainly was.

Mr. White was only in the service of his country for one month, long enough for the Air Force to discover that he failed to meet standards. What were those standards? The one in question was Mr. White's inability to read. He could not comprehend at a third grade level.

So what, you might say. What's the big deal? There are a lot of people that cannot read . . . even in modern America. That's true . . . but this case is a little different . . . Lewis White is a California high school graduate — complete with mortarboard, gown, and diploma.

Lewis's mother had some choice comments to make on the quality of California education, for example: "Well how in God's name did he graduate from Balboa High School last year if he couldn't read?"

That's a good question.

She also asked, "Why are our schools doing this to the children today? A cap of knowledge on his head and he can't even spell Mississippi."

SIXTH GRADER

Mrs. White then made a cogent observation about her own educational background. "I never got past the sixth grade, but when I was in school they made me stay in the fifth grade two years because I couldn't spell the word 'mischief'. You know, I only had a sixth grade education, but I can write a business letter and make out a money order."

Mrs. White was obviously surprised but the vice principal of the school wasn't. He stated that high school diplomas are a matter of course — a student only has to fulfill a certain number of hours to qualify for a high school diploma.

Young Mr. White was considered to be mentally retarded by the school officialdom — this also came as a surprise to his mother. She again asked a penetrating question, "Why didn't they tell me?"

Obviously the school and Mrs. White had never discussed Lewis's lack of mental agility. It is obvious that the school really didn't care or they would have given some token warning to Lewis's parents for his apparent academic inabilities.

Retarded educational facilities and calloused management come as no surprise to me. I have served on the Senate Committee on Education for eight years and one thing rings loud and clear . . . the parents have lost their grip on the school system and the control of our educational institutions resides in the hands of the educaitonal bureaucracy.

MONEY ON THE HOOF

Educating the young is secondary. The primary function is to get them in, collect the A.D.A., and ship them out. In case the term A.D.A. escapes you, that stands for average daily attendance. Each student must average so many days a year in school so that the school district can collect state aid. In other words, each student represents so much on the hoof to the school district.

For example, if Mr. Lewis White had been dropped from school because of poor grades, then the dollars that Mr. White represented would have been cut off. If this happened to enough students, a teacher might not be needed and that would be horrible. If a few teachers were dismissed, then an administrator might have to go. Heaven forbid! If that were the case, the California Teachers Association would not get their dues and their lobbyists in Sacramento might not get paid as much.

Maybe, just maybe, these reasons should be considered when we review why Lewis White was kept in high school and then graduated. Maybe that is why Mrs. White was never informed that her son was educationally retarded.

Mrs. White's parting question was a classic, "If he can only read at a third grade level, how's he going to find a job?"

Maybe the fact that Lewis White can't find a job isn't that important to the educational bureaucrats. Their only concern might be keeping jobs for their colleagues in the educational establishment and the children be damned.

Mail Bag

Dear Editor:

It would be inappropriate for me to start the New Year by not writing this letter and enclosing a check for renewal of my subscription to our local newspaper. I would also be remiss if I didn't comment on the 25% increase in rate even though I can understand the reason and need for it. I can also state from experience that cutting it economically in a small weekly newspaper is a significant feat in itself.

Your January 2 issue seemed to me to be an excellent example of "local" news coverage, and not every other story was dope or delinquent youth oriented — even though we have at least our share here in Spring Valley.

I got a chuckle over your editorial piece "Welcome to the Metric System". I think it will make a humorous insert in one of our upcoming issues of our customer mailer publication (the Otay Water District) "Pipelines".

Operation Successful

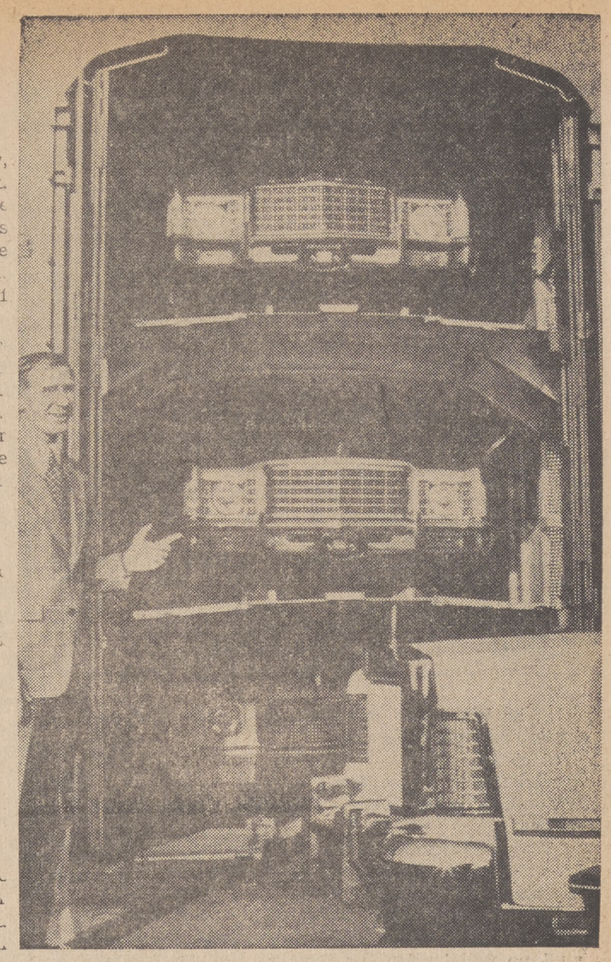

Also the article under heading "About Your Health" on prostate surgery will come in useful. I underwent a prostate resectioning last July and I can assure you that it is quite an experience. It seems that the majority of the male specie of my age group are intensely curious when they find out that I have had the surgery. A xerox copy of your story will go a long way to explain just what it is. My ideological adversary Herb Ketell (Spring Valley Parks and Recreation Advisory Board chairman) doesn't to this day believe that the incision scar is very small.

Two ways of explaining the results of the surgery. When I had my recent three-month check up, the urologist said: "Mr. Struthers (he's very formal) you now have a very small normal prostate". My friend and family doctor Tom Webster says: "Alex (he's not so formal) they sure cut a lot of meat out of you."

Getting back to your excellent newspaper, please keep up the good work and keep mailing it to us, but don't forget to bill me when due.

Seriously, I feel this letter and the check were both overdue. Editor, even though I have a soft head, that doesn't mean to imply that I'm always going to agree with you editorially, but mostly I do.

Regards,
Alex Struthers,

YOU AND YOUR PET

by: Robert L. Stear D.V.M.

Hip Dysplasia is Large Dog's Malady

As Americans become more security conscious, the demand for large dogs increases. It seems a bargain to get a watchdog/child protector/companion all for the price of one animal.

Unfortunately, this trend is leading to the hasty and indiscriminate breeding of large dogs. As breeders of shepherds, retrievers and other large dogs strive to keep up with the demand, they are less careful to eliminate defective breeding stock. As a result, a condition called congenital hip dysplasia is showing up with increasing frequency.

Hip dysplasia is a hereditary disease and involves improper development of the ball-and-socket joint of the hip. If the socket is too shallow or the ball too flat, a misshapen joint is produced which tends to come out of place. Mild cases result in varying degrees of lameness. Acute cases cause the hip to fall completely out of the socket, making walking virtually impossible. Also, arthritis seems to accompany the condition.

The disease occurs in large and medium-sized breeds like the German shepherd, St. Bernard, golden retriever, boxer and Great Dane. The condition is rare in small dogs.

Signs of hip dysplasia start appearing in puppies from 3 to six months old. Lameness is the first symptom. As the disease progresses, the dog will show increasing reluctance to stand, and may sit with the hind legs stretched out to one side at an unnatural angle. When the dog does move, it has an abnormal walk, with a pronounced swaying of the rear quarters.

If you pet shows signs of lameness, make an appointment to see your veterinarian. With the help of an X-ray, he will decide if the cause of the lameness is hip dysplasia or just a temporary dislocation caused, perhaps, by an accident.

If your veterinarian diagnoses a case of hip dysplasia, he may suggest pain relievers, rest and limited exercise to make your pet more comfortable. Unfortunately, nothing short of surgery will stop the progress of a severe case. If you wish, your veterinarian may be able to suggest an orthopedic surgeon to evaluate your pet and decide if surgery would help. In older dogs, removal of some of the bone may reduce pain and irritation even though it will not restore the normal method of walking. In younger pets, where arthritis has not yet appeared, the hip can sometimes be reconstructed by surgery.

To avoid this problem, ask to see the parents if possible when you decide to buy a shepherd or other large puppy. Also, examine the other puppies in the litter, since some affected animals show symptoms earlier than others. Since 1966, some kennels have been registering their breeding stock with the Orthopedia Foundation for Animals, which certifies that they are dysplasia-free. Puppies from O.F.A. registered stock have a greatly reduced chance of getting the disease. If your pet does develop hip dysplasia, you should not use it for breeding purposes, since this will only pass the trait on to another generation of dogs.

Good Drivers Get Special Test

Specialized, self-test booklets have been mailed to 30,000 "good drivers" in California whose licenses are expiring early this year. The booklet is part of a pilot program intended to develop more effective driver licensing procedures.

State Motor Vehicles Director Robert Cozens explained that the 30,000 drivers were selected at random by the Department's computer from those having good driving records for the past three years. They are a representative cross section of the more than 10 million motorists in California with good records, out of a total of 13 million licensed drivers.

Those receiving the booklets will be asked to read them, study the illustrated driving situations and answer the multiple choice questions. Most then will have their license renewed without having to take the usual written test.

If the pilot program, of which this mailing is a part, works out, California drivers may one day be given driving tests geared to their driving records, Cozens said. The new testing program could go statewide in 1977.

Problem drivers may get a many-faceted "educational" test lasting up to an hour while good drivers may have to take only a written test in the booklet mailed to them at home.

Bloodmobile Open Today

Grossmont Hospital Auxiliary chairman, Mrs. Gwen Baker, announces that the San Diego Blood Bank Bloodmobile will be available for donations at the Hospital auditorium on Thursday, January 30, from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. No appointment is necessary.

The Auxiliary provides this community service for the donor's convenience in not having to travel to San Diego. You can help your family and friends as well as the community at large by participating. The actual blood will be distributed during its 21-day lifespan to save lives in community hospitals.

Every seven minutes, someone in the County needs a blood transfusion; therefore, 200 volunteer blood donors are a daily must.

Pranksters on the Rise Pacific Telephone Says

Pacific Telephone announced that the number of annoyance calls has doubled in the county over the past two years and issued a reminder to the public that there are ways to cope with such problems.

Crank calls in San Diego County now number about 1,000 a month, said Pacific Telephone's local manager Mrs. Helen Speratos. The figure does not include calls that go unreported, she said.

Annoyance calls include harassment or obscenities and are separate from those involving a threat to a person's life.

Speratos advised that obscene or harassing calls are generally placed by persons who crave attention. She said that the best way to respond to the calls is to quickly and quietly hang up. Slamming the phone down or responding verbally may provoke the caller to continue.

If calls continue there are a number of ways to stop them, Speratos said. A change of number or a change to an unlisted number are two solutions.

If the change doesn't do the trick, the phone company supplies forms for logging such calls. Log sheets record the times of calls and the voice characteristics of the caller, information helpful in identifying the person's number.

If calls persist during the logging, a customer may ask the phone company to attempt to identify the number from which the calls are originating. This usually involves a written request from the subscriber with tacit agreement that he is willing to let authorities prosecute if the caller is identified.

A person convicted of making obscene or harassing calls in violations of both state and federal statutes is subject to a stiff fine or jail sentence . . . or both.

Mrs. Speratos pointed out that, while the phone company will attempt to identify a crank caller's line or number, it is up to local law enforcement agencies to identify the caller himself.

266,000 Voters Are Cancelled

More than 266,000 cancellation notices were mailed December 2 to voters who failed to exercise their franchise at the November 5 general election according to Charles J. Sexton, registrar of voters.

California election law provides that voters who failed to vote shall be canceled; however, such voters who have not removed from their voting residence may restore their voter franchise within 60 days by notice to the registrar of voters.

Over 200,000 voters have not returned their restoration cards. Most of these persons have moved.

Many voters, however, can restore by returning the card before January 31. Failure to return the card will result in cancellation and require that the voter must reregister in order to participate in future elections.

Course Covers Retirement Financing

The Hoover-Crawford Adult Education Dept. of San Diego Community Colleges is sponsoring a "Senior Citizens Financial Planning Course" open to people of all ages, but especially retirees living on a fixed income.

L.G. Dentist Heads Area Health Week

The appointment of Dr. Frank S. Drongowski as Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area chairman of the San Diego County Dental Society's 27th observance of National Children's Dental Health Week has been announced by society president Dr. Norman D. Sperber.

Frank S. Drongowski

Dr. Drongowski of 3048 Main st., Lemon Grove, said this year's celebration, scheduled Feb. 2-8, will focus on "Smile Power," the Dental Society's current preventive dentistry program.

A pilot program, in which some 1,200 San Diego county fourth graders received dental examinations as well as the latest brushing and flossing techniques, is planned for expansion into all county fourth grade classrooms within the next 12-18 months.

A native of Ohio, Dr. Drongowski received his undergraduate training at the University of Dayton and earned his DDS degree at Western Reserve University School of Dentistry.

While at Western Reserve he completed his studies in oral surgery and served as a clinical instructor both at the School of Dentistry and at University Hospital. Among his affiliations he numbers membership in the American Society of Oral Surgeons.

Dr. Drongowski said a highlight of the week-long Children's Dental Health observance will be a Dental Society-sponsored "Night at Sea World" Feb. 7 to benefit the Children's Dental Health Center.

He said this special event is open to the public and tickets are available in the offices of any Dental Society member.

CAR Head Sees Housing Upturn

Richard C. Farrer, head of the California Association of Realtors predicts that the worst is over for the housing industry and foresees an upturn by mid-1975 as a trend toward improvement in mortgage credits starts.

Farrer said, "There will be an improved mortgage market soon, coupled with lower interest rates, which will surely help to improve existing home sales by early spring . . . and there should be a rise in new home construction and sales by summer".

The atomic bomb was dropped on Hiroshima, Japan, 29 years ago.

TAX ANSWERS

IRS

F. S. Schmidt, DISTRICT DIRECTOR, INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. Are any of the campaign expenses of those running for our city council or the state legislature tax deductible?

A. No. Campaign expenses of a candidate for any office are not deductible. Registration fees for primary elections are also non-deductible, even for incumbents seeking to remain in office.

Q. I formed a partnership with two other people this summer to paint houses for a living. How do we report our earnings to the IRS?

A. Partnerships pay no income tax, but they must submit an information return using Form 1065, U.S. Partnership Return of Income, showing the results of the partnership's operations for its tax year. As a partner, you must include as income on the Supplemental Income Schedule (Schedule E) of Form 1040 (U.S. Individual Income Tax Return) your distributive share, based on your partnership agreement, of earnings, gains, and losses. You have to report these items whether or not they have been distributed to you. Detailed information on partnership income is available in the IRS free Publication 541, "Tax Information on Partnership Income and Losses."

Q. I had a casualty loss recently when a thunderstorm caused a tree to fall on the roof of my garage at home. I know the damage to the garage is deductibe but what about loss of the tree?

A. If ornamental trees and shrubs on residential property are damaged or destroyed by a casualty, you may have a deductible loss subject to the $100 limitation on personal casualty loss deductions. To deduct this loss, you must establish that there has been a decrease in the total value of your real estate. When you have the damage appraised, remember that the fee you pay for establishing the amount of the loss is tax deductible also.

Q. My daughter has just taken a job as a sales clerk three nights a week at a large department store. She gets a discount on merchandise she buys at the store. Is the discount a taxable fringe benefit?

A. Courtesy discounts on purchases from your daughter's employer are not income if they are of relatively small value, are offered to employees generally, and are offered merely as a means of promoting her health, goodwill or efficiency. But if she buys property from her employer at a reduced price, she must include in her income the difference between what she paid and its fair market value as additional compensation.

Consumer Tips

State Law Protects Consumers From Shady Travel Promoters

Going on that once-in-a-life-time vacation this year? A new California law may make it a more happy trip.

Effective January 1, Senate Bill 2402, Chapter 1272 of the Statutes of 1975, requires all travel promoters (not travel agents), when they first receive payment for air or sea transportation from a customer, to provide a written statement containing the following information:

- Name, address and telephone number of the travel promoter.
- The date, amount and purpose of the payment made and an itemized statement of the balance due, if any.
- The location and number of the trust account or alternate bond required by law.
- The name of the carrier contracted with, the type of equipment to be used and the date time and place of each departure.
- The conditions of cancellation between the travel promoter and his customers, if there are any.
- The conditions of cancellations between the travel promoter and the carrier, if there are any.
- A statement that if the transportation is cancelled through no fault of the customer the travel promoter must return all money paid for services not performed unless the customer states otherwise in writing.

Every promoter will still be required to put 90 per cent of the money he receives from his customers in a trust account until he pays the businesses who are actually providing the services. These businesses include airlines, hotels, restaurants or any other operation that will be providing services for the travel promoters customers. Instead of this trust account, a travel promoter may choose to establish an adequate bond.

The law, however, applies only to travel promoters and not to travel agents. A travel agent is officially appointed by a carrier (an airline or ocean-going vessel) to represent them in promoting and selling transportation. An agent receives a certificate of appointment from each carrier he represents stating that this relationship exists. A promoter on the other hand, arranges services but does not have this official appointment from a carrier. If an individual claims to be an agent but you are in doubt, ask to see a certificate of appointment.

While a travel promoter who violates this new law may be guilty of a misdemeanor, it is of little consolation to the consumer who has already lost his money or has been stranded in another country.

A consumer's best protection is to be familiar with the law.

Remember, if you are dealing with a travel promoter (not an agent) be sure you receive a written statement with all he required information. Don't rely on verbal promises — get it in writing.

Lynch Reminds Renter Of Tax Credit

Chairman John W. Lynch of the State Board of Equilization issued a reminder last week to California State Taxpayers that renters are allowed a credit on their 1974 State Income Tax. The renter's credit ranges from $25 to $45, depending on the individual's adjusted gross income, Lynch advised.

"Many people don't know that they are entitled to the refund and neglect to file for it. People living in mobile-homes situated on rented land qualify for the refund, but are frequently unaware of it", he said.

McLean Song Puts Mummy To Rest—After 60 Years

"The Legend of Andrew McCrew", a new song by singer-song writer Don McLean, has touched off a bizarre chain of events, reopening a mental health scandal in Dallas and finally giving dignity to a black hobo who died in 1913, was buried in 1973 and given a headstone in December, last year.

McLean, who stirred up national controversy with his "American Pie" in 1971, has whipped up a storm in Dallas with the song from his new Homeless Brother album written after he had read a UPI dispatch about Anderson McCrew, a black hobo who died in a train wreck in Marlin, Texas.

After his death, McCrew was mummified by Stanford Washington, a local black embalmer, who waited for a relative or friend to claim the body. When several years had passed, Washington decided to rent the body to a succession of blacks and white who exhibited the mummified McCrew at carnivals for forty years after his death. McCrew became well-known enough to be listed in Ripley's Believe It Or Not as The Eighth Wonder of the World according to a 1939 poster.

In 1969, the mummy came into possession of Mrs. Elgie Pace, a Licensed Vocational Nurse in Dallas, who saved McCrew from being covered over by a bulldozer. Living on a marginal income and moved by humane concerns, she tried to arrange a decent burial for McCrew but was unsuccessful in all her efforts.

In April, 1973, she was fired from her job with the Mental Evaluation Center in Dallas for bringing to light the shocking treatment of patients there. When she was fired, ten other members of the staff protested her dismissal and were fired themselves.

At the height of the scandal, it was learned that Mrs. Pace had the mummy in her basement and the Dallas Police Department investigated her in an effort to further harass Mrs. Pace on orders from Lew Sterrett, then head of the Mental Evaluation Center.

When the news of the mummified McCrew broke in the Dallas papers, Frank and Judy Lott, the black owners of Lott's Funeral Home, offered to donate full burial services to McCrew whatever the consequencies. The mummy was laid to rest in an unmarked grave at Dallas's Lincoln Memorial Cemetery June 2, 1973. Before burial, he lay in state for three days and attracted 5,000 onlookers.

Unsuccessful in efforts to win reinstatement with the County Commissioners, she was refused a hearing by the Dallas grand jury. Despite corroboration of her evidence by the FBI, Mrs. Pace's struggle seemed to be at a standstill.

A year and a half later, her determination was rekindled with the help of an upstate New York songwriter and a Chicago disc jockey.

WGN's Roy Leonard played "The Legend of Andrew McCrew" on the air November 1 and got numerous calls from listeners who had seen the UPI story on McCrew. On the 6th, Leonard did phone interviews with Mrs. Pace and Don McLean, and, after the program, Bob Williams of Chicago's Jensen Corporation called to donate a headstone for McCrew's grave.

The headstone was unveiled in a ceremony December 8th at 2:30 p.m. at Lincoln Memorial Center. Invitations went out to black and white religious, and political and educational leaders in Dallas and McLean's song was played at the funeral. The headstone recounts McCrew's legend and contains the fourth verse of McLean's song:

Well what a way to live a life
And what a way to die
Left to live a living death
A petrified amazement
A wonder beyond worth
A man who found more life in death
Than life gave him at birth.

Mrs. Pace, an attractive 51-year-old divorcee has been buoyed up by recent events. McLean's song has become the wedge to bring peace at last to McCrew and reopen her fight with Dallas's medieval treatment of mental patients.

She currently works 80 hours a week supporting her son Richard, 18, and daughter Kathy, 13. She pulls a full night shift in the coronary unit at Oak Cliff Mental Center and teaches eight hours a day at the Nurses' Aid Academy in Dallas. On weekends, she donates her services to private patients.

McCrew is fast becoming a black folklore figure. For his work on McCrew, Frank Lott is being included in "Who's Who Among Black Americans". Black historical societies have called the Lott's asking to display McCrew's original tin-and-wood coffin. Judy Lott is writing a book about the entire McCrew story.

McLean, known for writing songs like "American Pie", "Vincent", "And I Love You So" and "Dreidel", is delighted about the effects of his song. "When I read the story, I was fascinated and kept the clipping several months trying to approach the song from the right angle. I wanted it to have humor, pathos and morality, and I'm thrilled with what's happening for Andrew and Mrs. Pace".
